Why They Call Me "Seeds"

Among some of my most intimate friends I am called "Seeds" McNabb, rather than the name that my parents bestowed upon me. I take this "Nick-name" as a real compliment on my devotion to my business. Perhaps my environment among growing things on the farm where I was born, developed the love for plants and seeds that I evinced even as a boy.

At any rate it was, and still is, interesting to me to watch plants and seeds grow, each after its kind to a perfect state of development.

It became a passion with me to select seeds that would reach a state of perfection under the peculiar conditions of soil or atmosphere obtaining in different sections.

After I went into the business of selling seeds, plants and bulbs, I became enthusiastic over the service I could render to my customers in helping them to secure the best results. I study, read, dream and live seeds, so that I may know the kinds that are best, and the method best adapted to their culture. I test and experiment with them so that I may serve my customers with seeds that I absolutely KNOW will bring the results that they desire.

That's the reason that those who know me best call me "Seeds."

YOURS FOR BETTER GARDENS,
F. C. "Seeds" McNabb.

Local Briefs

DR. NORMAN RETURNS—Dr. F. C. Norman has returned to Phoenix after an absence of five or six months and has resumed his practice at 308 North Central avenue.

LOCAL COUPLE WEDS—James N. Burbulis and Bertha Kallweit, both of Phoenix, were married yesterday afternoon by Justice Nat T. McKee in his office.

JEWISH SERVICES—Feast of the Tabernacle services will be held by the Jewish community of the city at 8 o'clock tonight at the school administration building on North First avenue. Dr. Likantz, local rabbi, will speak.

OPPORTUNITY FOR WOMEN—Mrs. A. Genevieve Oakes will speak to women only in the reception room at 206 Menhion building at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening and at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on the advantages and opportunities in salesmanship.

COCONINO JUDGE HERE—Judge J. E. Jones of the superior court of Coconino county at Flagstaff presided as a special judge in the superior court of Maricopa county yesterday in order to clear the docket of several matters. He handled a divorce suit and several juvenile cases.

CHARGED WITH BATTERY—Ambrose Smith yesterday was arraigned before Justice Charles De Sales Wheeler on a charge of aggravated battery and was released under a cash bond of $400, which he furnished, to appear for examination next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The complaint was made by Smiles Montoya, who alleges Smith struck him on the head with a scale weight.

SUES RAILROADS—Declaring that through failure to properly care for the animals and rough handling 25 sheep in a shipment from Ancho, N. M., to Gilbert, Ariz., died, Joseph A. Locarnini yesterday brought suit against the El Paso & Southwestern Railway company, the Southern Pacific Railway company and the Arizona & Eastern Railway company, asking a judgment of $364 as compensation for the sheep. He alleges he shipped 668 head of sheep in October, 1917, and that the companies have refused to make good the lost sheep.

ARMY WANTS MEXICANS—The local army recruiting station has been authorized to accept 3000 Mexicans and Spaniards for the Second division at San Antonio, Tex. The army makes a man mentally, morally and physically sound and keeps him in that condition. It gives him good quarters, good food, medical attention, washes his clothes. Forty-two different trades and occupations are taught in the army schools. Call at the local army recruiting station and talk it over with the sergeant.

SINCE 1881

Did you ever pose as an "Ant Exterminator"? Try it, and the recording angel will have one more reminiscence on her scroll worthy of perusal. Ants, like cattle, are graded, but ant-thropology is not my hobby, but ant-exterminology is my bugbear. Wife had admonished me when leaving, to destroy, annihilate and expurgate every little devil that would infest our Refrigerator. So, ordering by wholesale London Purple, Borax, Sal Ammonia, Chalk and Lime, I proceeded to conglomerate them and plaster the compound lavishly over every spot within the lair. Having sliced a luscious melon I wadded a portion between shelves, forgetting the poisonous paste in contact. Slapping myself into a chair for lunch, I offered no "blessing," but began chawing on stale bread and canned beans, then munched the rosy melon as dessert which fillings me with an overflowing sense of thankfulness. I did offer a blessing for being in the envied city of Phoenix. This scrumptious, gladsome feeling, ecstatic and delusive, soon seemed to gradually wither; in truth, my eyesight seemed to become filmy, and my brain cloudy; the muscles relaxed, my head assumed a side twist, and hand and arms a limp uselessness; the tongue thickened, and throat filled, but my mentality was not wholly benumbed; for I ruminated on what brought this transformation. A dead, prickly sensation next appeared, frightening me, so making one strenuous effort I grasped the only liquid within reach, which was the syrup from canned cherries, and being taken from the same quarter, was literally chequered with the little hellish denizens of ants. Feverishly swallowing this (which saved my life), I was soon, as in the days of old John Barleycorn, or further back when the poor old whale was unloading Jonah, straining "intestinally," and I warrant you THAT WHALE never strained harder, louder, or oftener, than I, for if anything in, over, above or below, can make a man sicker, heavier, harder, or see myriads of swimming stars more electrically, and more rapidly, than chawed ants, I must be shown. I survived, so does that numerical family, who, as far as future domination goes, shall receive no opposition from me. You would presume that this experience ended the ant fiasco, but no, those ringing words of admonition, and expectancy of "wife's" return, impelled me to further action, and results demonstrate, reaction. You are all familiar with the large outdoor pests, that stream in and out of a ground opening, over which I planted myself, oblivious to aught save destruction of its tenants. I very carefully distributed the mixture around and in the hole, which set the mass in an unbridled rage as they rushed in all directions for an enemy. The temperature of Phoenix (from whence men are never consigned to hell, without extra covering), warranted bodily encasement to be of curtain drapery, and while in reverie the horde made the ascension of my limbs, neath this mantle, and at a given signal clamped their incisors deeply into my flesh. I cannot detail, but if you wish relics of paleontology, I will direct, as I tore them madly, shredded them completely, and between roars and profanity hied me swiftly windward, meeting three maids, who swooned and fell as if shot, and two widows, who didn't swoon, but ran themselves breathless to nab a real demonstrated man, whom they envied as a prize. At home, I found limbs tattooed, and every hair removed. Shall order plated, tight bottomed pants before my next assault, and will enter no further conflicts, pending the making, even if the Mrs. arrives and tweaks my nose, as is her custom when disobeyed.
